DeFi

DeFi is the wild west of cryptocurrency and is the best product of blockchain technology so far. Though there are several DeFi protocols taking the fruits of decentralization and democratization to the public, people still look for an evolutionary DeFi mechanism in the market. Understanding this, AIR has established it as a token based on the hyper deflationary mechanism, creating a decentralized finance instrument to enhance the financial stability of its holders.

What is the difference between DeFi and Open Banking ?

Open banking is a banking system where third party financial service providers are given secure access to financial data via APIs. This allows for linkages of accounts and data between banks and non-bank financial institutions. In essence, it allows for new types of products and services within the traditional financial system.

The Next Evolutionary Token

Though this concept of hyper deflation is a common one in conventional stock markets, where the companies promise buyback of stocks, it is very rare in cryptocurrencies. When the issuer offers a buy-back guarantee, the token holders can fearlessly hold any token, and this is the only possible way to make mass adoption of cryptocurrency, a feasible one.

AIR is a hyper-deflationary token that aims for 1 billion market capitalization through its unique and brilliant tokenomics. It is operated by a successful and experienced crypto team.

Key Features

Buy Back

Liquidity Lock

AIR

Rug Proof

Anti Whale

ELIMINATES RUG PULL

The major problem faced by leading decentralized exchanges like pancakeswap is the rug pull that occurs due to lack of liquidity.in conventional liquidity pools,the liquidity of tokens lies in hands of crypto whales who holds majority of tokens in circulation .when they sell huge number of tokens , the liquidity pulled out of the pool,adversely effects the token holders, AIR has an anti-whale system and all the AIR-BNB LP tokens have been destroyed by sending to 0x0000000000000000000000000000000000000001, it means that all the initial liquidity was locked forever, all the traders are safe means no rugpull we will always go up
